Today there are about 650 million Hindus worldwide.

The majority of Hindus live in India, where the religion was born.

One in every seven people in the world is a Hindu living in India.

There are also significant Hindu populations in Bangladesh, Nepal, and Pakistan, and smaller groups in Sri Lanka, Indonesia, Fiji, Africa, Europe, Canada, and the United States.

About three-quarters of a million Hindus live and work in the United States. While Hindus in each region have altered their religion to suit the needs of the surrounding culture, all Hindus share a common set of traditions.

Hinduism was not founded by one individual. Rather, it is a fusion of many religious beliefs and philosophical schools. Accordingly, Hinduism is said to be a religion of a million and one gods.

 * * Puja: Expressions of Hindu Devotion-

In India, Hindu's express religious devotion through puja, the act of showing reverence to a god or aspects of the divine through invocations, prayers, songs, and rituals. Art and ritual come together in this exhibition of 125 works, in various media, which help visitors understand how art objects are used in puja. Also considered are puja environments: shrines located in temples, the home, or outdoors.

 * * What is puja?

Puja is the act of showing reverence to a god, a spirit, or another aspect of the divine through invocations, prayers, songs, and rituals. An essential part of puja for the Hindu devotee is making a spiritual connection with the divine. Most often that contact is facilitated through an object: an element of nature, a sculpture, a vessel, a painting, or a print.

 * * During puja an image or other symbol of the god serves as a means of gaining access to the divine. This icon is not the deity itself; rather, it is believed to be filled with the deity's cosmic energy. It is a focal point for honoring and communicating with the god. For the devout Hindu, the icon's artistic merit is important, but is secondary to its spiritual content. The objects are created as receptacles for spiritual energy that allow the devotee to experience direct communication with his or her gods.
